

Matrimonial Investigation

From suspected infidelity, divorce settlement to child custody fights, matrimonial disputes could be emotional and stressful for clients. During such challenging times, it is important to have professional investigators to help you gather evidence to support your next step.

The reasons why HERALD's Matrimonial Investigation helps you out from the challenging times:

- Dig out the truth and evidence
- Safeguard your rights
- Fight for a fair divorce settlement, child custody rights and equitable distribution of properties

Combining Surveillance and Asset Search, our Matrimonial Investigation follows two directions:

- Uncovering infidelity
- Helping you fight for child custody

Surveillance

- Our investigators keep the Subject under full-time surveillance in a discreet basis
- If we find out the Subject is involved in extramarital affairs, we will follow the Subject closely to collect intelligence, such as photos, videos and other forms of records

Asset Search

Through a comprehensive search that covers vehicles, real estates, shareholdings, companies and other properties, we can:

- Illustrate the Subject's financial condition to prepare for negotiations over the divorce settlement
- Reveal if there is any hidden income and assets
- Secure the maintenance and ensure the Subject fulfil his/her legal obligation that you and your children will enjoy your entitled rights
